University of California at Santa Barbara

Dear Professor Capps,

I am writing in hopes that you remember me. I was a student in your Voices of a Stranger class, Spring Quarter of '92. To refresh your memory, I wrote my paper about an interview I had with a prisoner that Judge Lodge had helped set up for me. I did that right after I went with the group to the Lompoc Prison. Writing that paper and visiting the prison had a great influence on my life. I graduated from UCSB in June of '93 with a degree in Law & Society with a Criminal Justice emphasis.

The main reason I am writing is to let you know that I am now living in Washington D.C. Right now I am working full time and enjoying my time off from school until I apply and go to law school in the next one to two years.

I know that you often set up trips for your classes to go to Washington and if at all possible I would love as an alumni and as a former student to help and/or participate in these trips if at all possible.

I am anxious to keep a strong relationship with my school and this may be a perfect opportunity to stay involved.

I work at the Marriott Hotel and I may be able to get you a group rate if you are not already receiving one elsewhere.

Last year I did an internship here through the Capitol Hill program and you encouraged me to try to meet with Senator Kerry. I did in fact go to his office, but he was unable to set up a meeting between himself and the UCSB students because he was out of town. But all of his staff knew you and was happy you had sent me.

I hope this finds your new year off to a good start. Enclosed is my address and phone number. I look forward to hearing from you. Possibly, if you are in Washington and have some time we could meet for lunch?

Thank you in advance for your time.

Sincerely,

Robyn Jell
